Christopher P. Ferragamo Successfully Settles Pro Bono Case

Washington, DC; November 12, 2008 – Jackson & Campbell, P.C. is pleased to announce that Christopher P. Ferragamo, Director, successfully resolved a subrogation claim on behalf of the Legal Counsel for the Elderly. The client was an elderly gentleman who had an automobile accident and afterwards was faced with a lawsuit with his insurance company. The insurer claimed that the client owed a significant amount of money in an effort to recover some of the money it had expended to cover costs incurred by the accident. Mr. Ferragamo agreed to defend the client, pro bono, and after closely monitoring the litigation and thoroughly reviewing the client's policy documents, he argued that the client was covered under a separate insurance policy and therefore did not owe anything to his insurer. The court dismissed the case and the parties settled for about $70,000, which was completely funded by the client's separate insurance company. See the Legal Counsel for the Elderly's Pro Bono Publico, Volume 19, Issue 2, for more on the case.

Mr. Ferragamo is a Director in Jackson & Campbell's Insurance Coverage Practice Group where he handles complex insurance coverage cases. He provides clients with coverage analysis and recommendations regarding primary, umbrella and excess general liability policies, pollution legal liability policies, and directors and officers liability policies. He has litigated cases in state and federal courts in many jurisdictions throughout the United States.
