Thomas Penfield Jackson Invited to Participate in a Conference in Buenos Aires, Argentina

Washington, DC; December 7, 2007 – Jackson & Campbell is pleased to announce that Thomas Penfield Jackson, a retired U.S. District Judge of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, was recently invited to participate in a conference on Insurance Law, hosted by the International Judicial Academy. The conference, "El Coloquio Sobre Justicia y Seguros," was held November 12-14 in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Judge Jackson, along with other American judges, presented to Argentinean lawyers and judges on various aspects of insurance law in the United States, as well as the current status of medical malpractice and insurance coverage policies in the U.S. Approximately 200 people were in attendance.

Judge Jackson is Counsel of Jackson & Campbell. He presided over the Microsoft antitrust case and also heard the drug trial of former District of Columbia Mayor Marion Barry, the public disclosure case over former Senator Packwood's diaries, and the case involving the constitutionality of the presidential line-item veto. Prior to accepting his judgeship, he was a partner at Jackson & Campbell, where he specialized in defending physicians and hospitals in malpractice suits.
