WMCCAI Honors David H. Cox as Committee Chair of the Year and 2006 Public Advocate for the District of Columbia

Washington, DC – At the Annual Meeting of the Washington Metropolitan Chapter Community Associations Institute (WMCCAI) on November 4, 2006, David H. Cox of Jackson & Campbell, P.C. was recognized for his leadership in the community association industry by being awarded the Committee Chair of the Year Award and the District of Columbia Public Advocate Award. Both awards spring from David's work on the D.C. Legislative Action Committee (DC LAC) for the Chapter.

The Public Advocate Awards are given to individuals committed to making a significant contribution within the legislative or regulatory environment by regularly attending meetings with District of Columbia council members and District administrative agencies and departments. David was selected for both awards because of his establishment of "a legislative tracking system to keep committee members informed on matters affecting community associations," and for his dedication "to making community association living in the District the best it can be."

David currently serves as co-chair for the DC Legislative Action Committee for WMCCAI. At Jackson & Campbell, he is co-chair of the Real Property & Asset Management Practice Group and a member of the Executive Committee.

WMCCAI serves the educational, business, and networking needs of the community association industry throughout Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Columbia. Members include professionals and community volunteers from condominium, cooperative, and homeowner associations as well as service providers. For more information on WMCCAI, visit www.caidc.org.
