

A Statement from the Firm

24 Mar 2021

When our firm president, John J. Matteo, wrote this statement in June of last year, he was responding to a wave of peaceful protests across the country held in response to a long history of police violence and discrimination that has harmed generations of African-Americans.

Those issues have not been resolved, and as a firm we remain committed to bringing about the necessary changes to make our country an equitable and fair place for all who live here and Jackson & Campbell an equitable and fair place to work for all of its employees. We are preserving the image and language of this graphic in this post as a reminder to ourselves that there is much work left to be done.

(CONTINUED)

A STATEMENT FROM THE FIRM

We at Jackson & Campbell, P.C. are appalled and saddened by the police brutality and unrest that the world has witnessed over the past several weeks, from the deaths of Ahmaud Arbery, Breonna Taylor, and George Floyd to the often inappropriate responses to peaceful protests that followed.

Keeping with the values of Edmund Campbell, a founding partner of this firm who worked tirelessly to integrate schools in Arlington Virginia, we stand firmly in support of our Black colleagues, friends, family and community members in support of racial equality and against injustice. Silence is no longer an option; joining together in solidarity to say “Enough” and passing real reform is the only way we move forward. Jackson & Campbell is committed to being an ally and helping to bring about these desperately needed changes.

A Statement from the Firm

(CONTINUED)

A STATEMENT FROM THE FIRM

24 Mar 2021

When our firm president, John J. Matteo, wrote this statement in June of last year, he was responding to a wave of peaceful protests across the country held in response to a long history of police violence and discrimination that has harmed generations of African-Americans.

Those issues have not been resolved, and as a firm we remain committed to bringing about the necessary changes to make our country an equitable and fair place for all who live here and Jackson & Campbell an equitable and fair place to work for all of its employees. We are preserving the image and language of this graphic in this post as a reminder to ourselves that there is much work left to be done.

(CONTINUED)

A STATEMENT FROM THE FIRM

We at Jackson & Campbell, P.C. are appalled and saddened by the police brutality and unrest that the world has witnessed over the past several weeks, from the deaths of Ahmaud Arbery, Breonna Taylor, and George Floyd to the often inappropriate responses to peaceful protests that followed.

Keeping with the values of Edmund Campbell, a founding partner of this firm who worked tirelessly to integrate schools in Arlington Virginia, we stand firmly in support of our Black colleagues, friends, family and community members in support of racial equality and against injustice. Silence is no longer an option; joining together in solidarity to say “Enough” and passing real reform is the only way we move forward. Jackson & Campbell is committed to being an ally and helping to bring about these desperately needed changes.

TAGGED: #BLM #BlackLivesMatter

(CONTINUED)

A STATEMENT FROM THE FIRM