J&CBLOG
Worthwhile Legal News and Commentary

Jackson & Campbell, P.C.
2300 N Street, N.W.
Suite 300
Washington, D.C. 20037-1194
202.457.1600 (p)

Health Law Practice Group Privileged to Serve MedStar Washington Hospital Center

27 Feb 2020

,

Earlier this month, Jackson & Campbell, P.C.'s Health Law Practice Group obtained a defense verdict in a malpractice case alleging that a patient suffered permanent nerve damage during a lower left wisdom tooth extraction. She alleged the surgical technique and procedure choice were improper and denied giving her informed consent to the procedure. After a six day trial, the jury of five women and three men found the oral surgeon complied with the standard of care and obtained the patient's proper consent to the extraction. The plaintiff's counsel has agreed not to appeal the verdict. Attorneys Crystal S. Deese and Ashley M. Nickel are honored to have served our client in this capacity.

Health Law Practice Group Privileged to Serve MedStar Washington Hospital Center

27 Feb 2020

,

Earlier this month, Jackson & Campbell, P.C.'s Health Law Practice Group obtained a defense verdict in a malpractice case alleging that a patient suffered permanent nerve damage during a lower left wisdom tooth extraction. She alleged the surgical technique and procedure choice were improper and denied giving her informed consent to the procedure. After a six day trial, the jury of five women and three men found the oral surgeon complied with the standard of care and obtained the patient's proper consent to the extraction. The plaintiff's counsel has agreed not to appeal the verdict. Attorneys Crystal S. Deese and Ashley M. Nickel are honored to have served our client in this capacity.

TAGGED: Health Law, Malpractice