

Jackson & Campbell Coronavirus/COVID-19 Updates

17 Mar 2020

At Jackson & Campbell, P.C. dependability is the cornerstone of our successful attorney-client relationships. Underlying our dependability is the care we have for our clients and their legal needs.

We are sharing this message to assure you that we are keeping up with the rapidly changing news regarding the health and safety concerns surrounding the COVID-19 virus. One of the biggest challenges is implementing the social distancing measures in a law firm environment. For your protection, we have thoroughly and successfully vetted the remote, usually at home, capabilities of our attorneys and staff, using our new cloud-based computer system. Satisfied that we will provide our high-quality legal services and also protect our lawyers and staff, we have implemented a firm-wide voluntary remote work option for our employees. You won't be surprised to learn, of course, that we already used remote capabilities on an ad hoc basis in the past without any loss of effectiveness. For the duration of current conditions, it is now encouraged. The services that you want will be seamlessly provided, even if the lawyer or paralegal is working off-site.
