Insurance Coverage

Overview

Jackson & Campbell, P.C. has a national reputation for excellence in its representation of insurers in insurance coverage matters. With more than 40 years of litigation and counseling experience in complex disputes between insured and their carriers, our clients have come to rely on our dependable and prompt analysis and opinions, effective case strategy and coordination, and our case management systems and support.

Our attorneys have served as national or lead counsel in several hundred insurance coverage matters across the United States, involving both primary and excess policies. Jackson & Campbell has represented insurance carriers with representation in lawsuits involving:

- Aqueous film forming foam (AFFF), Asbestos, Diethylstilbestrol, COVID-19, Fen-phen, lead paint, mold, silica, solvents, and other mass tort substances
- Automobile Liability
- Bad faith/unfair claims practices
- Business Interruption
- Concussion and Traumatic Brain Injuries (TBI)
- Construction defects
- Directors and officers
- E-Commerce
- Environmental
- Health care and medical malpractice
- Occupational disease
- Personal and advertising injury
- Products liability

These cases are brought in both state and federal courts and vary widely in size and scope. Some are single site/incident or single carrier cases with exposure in the hundreds of thousands of dollars, while others involve multiple site/multiple carrier cases with exposure in the hundreds of millions of dollars.

DEPENDABLE & PROMPT ANALYSIS AND OPINIONS

A threshold stage often preceding coverage litigation is that of analysis and opinion by outside counsel. For more than 40 years, Jackson & Campbell has assisted insurance company clients through research of pending claims, in light of policy language, and applicable case law (or the lack thereof) by providing thorough, thoughtful, dependable analysis and recommendations. Frequently, this analysis and advice addresses cutting-edge and unsettled legal issues. Our attorneys are sensitive to the time constraints inherent in this work, and respond accordingly to such assignments, supplementing necessary new research with reliance upon internal resources that has been collected and developed through
